

rosalux

the Berlin-based art office

"projectedspace" is simultaneously the title of a first meeting point at the project space rosalux and a constant flux of images: <http://statigr.am/tag/projectedspace>. Based on a process of trial and error and inspired by many artists, architects and theorists, "projectedspace" is about:

- space research
- formal reduction and exuberance
- construction and deconstruction
- about the thin frontier between "making" and "not making".

areashape is a virtual space for experiments and reflection as well as a meeting point between art, architecture, daily life and design. It is a continuous research with many open questions. Space research (in an architectural and sculptural sense) is one of its main concerns.

areashape is also a tumblr: <http://www.areashape.tumblr.com>.

Project conception: Tiny Domingos